This Month's Antique Books『Introduction to Chemistry: First Part』 (Textbook Collection)

The textbook collection is a collection of about 5,600 textbooks, from the Edo period "oraimono" (a type of elementary school textbook) that were used in Terakoya (a type of elementary school) to textbooks from 1951, which are now available to view online.

『Introduction to Chemistry: First Part』 is a Chemistry textbook from 1867 that was translated by Takehara Heijirou. If you take a peek through the pages, you may be able to see some elements that seem familiar such as "oxygenium" on the "metallic" and "nonmetallic" elemental tables!

You can view this book in the Hiroshima University Library Digital Archive!
