Best Practices for Searching for Information

1-0 . Introduction

➤ Which previous studies should I read first?

Ex: Searching for information about international relations.

➤ How can I read a difficult book?

Ex: I joined a reading group about Kant.

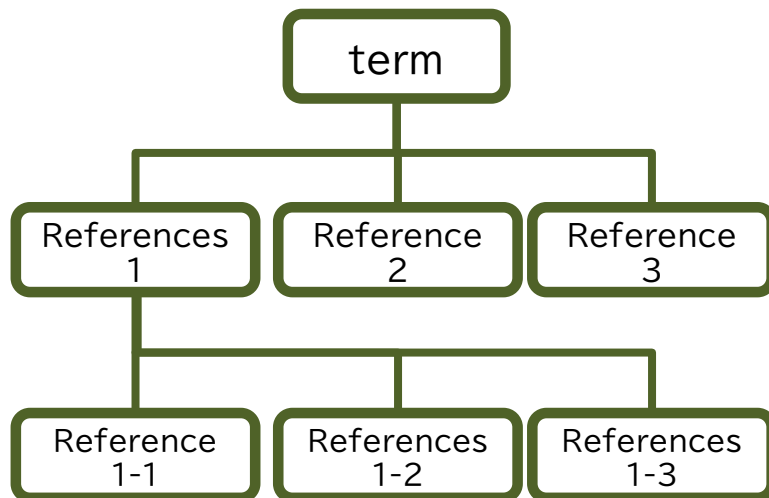

→ I borrowed a book but I don't understand it!
What should I do?

In such cases, check the references and confirm.

1-1. Searching Method

Search by reference

Search by keyword

Database and
Use a reference book

1-1. Search from reference

citation trail

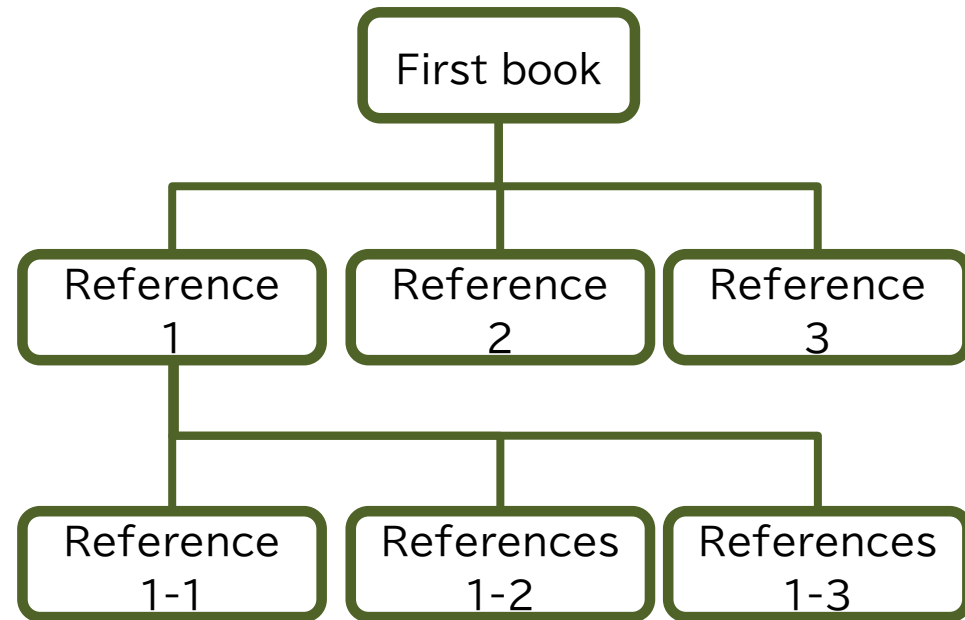

Find the first book;

Check the references;
Read the literature
that interests you;

Check out the references further;

→Search for references that are cited in the book that you selected;

→Nonetheless, you will only find documents that were published before the book you selected. 7

1-1. Search using keywords

- Search from old publications to the most recent
- The point is what keywords you have to use
 - Too many search results, it may be difficult to search

1-2 . Types of sources

Papers (e-journals)

- Excellent for rapid publication
- reviewed and reliable

Conference papers

- it demands more time on searching
- sometimes difficult to obtain

Books

- comprehensive descriptions
- Slower publication pace

Dictionaries and encyclopedias

- collect information succinctly
- Not for detailed search

1-2 . Types of sources

Articles (e-Journals)

- Research results on selected themes
- The most used source of information in academic research
- Published in an academic journal
- Most recent publications (state of art)
- There is a peer review system
- Contents of presentations at conferences and academic societies
- Latest research findings
- Excellent speed of reporting
- It is difficult to obtain because it is not widely distributed.
- The texts may not be finished, since the authors usually restructure the papers after the conferences and submit it to a journal.

Proceedings

1-2 . Types of sources

Books

- A summary of research results on a certain topic
- A substantial, in-depth, and comprehensive essay
- The speed of reporting is poor
- Many textbooks and handbooks are published .

Dictionaries encyclopedias

- A systematic arrangement of a particular topic
- Quickly find keywords
- However, the description is concise
- Understanding keyword hierarchy is helpful.

1-3 . How to start

➤ Know the keywords concisely

Search for keywords and get a clear idea of the content before reading the book.

→ When you find something difficult , try searching for a book using a broader keyword .

Example) Introduction to Criticism of Judgment <
Introduction to Kant < Introduction to Western Philosophy

➤ Read the abstract first

Almost all academic papers have an abstract.

If there is no abstract, focus on the introduction and conclusion.

Search using the OPAC

The screenshot shows the OPAC search interface. At the top, there are tabs for different search engines: OPAC (selected), CiNii Research, WoS, Scopus, Other Univ., NDL, WorldCat, and Others. Below the tabs, there are two search options: Basic Search (selected) and Advanced Search. A checkbox labeled 'contains review and tag' is also present. The search box contains the text 'Relational Aesthetics'. To the right of the search box is a green 'Search' button with a magnifying glass icon. Below the search box, there are links for 'Search by Classification', 'Journals Title List', 'Newly Arrived', 'Borrowed Ranking', 'Review List', and 'Search Tags'.

<Procedure>

1. Enter keywords in the search box
2. Select the desired material from the results' list

1 World Relational Aesthetics: A Model of Theological Aesthetics

Xue, SY

Jan 2 2020 | CONTEMPORARY CHINESE THOUGHT

As part of the wider theoretical framework of Zhuangzi, "world relational aesthetics" constitutes a theoretical framework for contemporary Chinese art. Against the backdrop of the contemporary Chinese art scene, this article explores the relationship between the world and the artist's work.
